

Bonnie's Goat Bedding

Bonnie's Goat Bedding is a clean and sustainable option for your farm, to ensure the health and comfort of your animals.

This product creates an induced vacuum effect when installed at the recommended depth. This unique feature efficiently dries the litter and transforms it into a natural heat source. The self-heating properties not only improve your goats' comfort but also positively impact feed efficiency, production rates, and the overall condition of your animals, ultimately leading to better results.

Offers natural insulation, keeping animals warm in colder climates.

Absorbs moisture, helping to maintain a dry and hygienic environment for animals.

Reduction in moisture reduces the risk of bacterial growth and infections.
